Foreword

As we, the youth of America, regard unsettled conditions in the world at present, we wonder what principles and standards we should uphold and represent. All of us are average American adolescents who lead normal lives, and who have been educated in the American atmosphere of freedom where we have the opportunity to express ourselves and to draw our own conclusions.

Because of this, this year's "Huttlestonian" Staff has decided to choose as our theme, American history and thought. It is, indeed, a great honor and privilege to be a citizen of America. During this momentous year of world upheaval, we have been led, more than ever to appreciate the freedom and opportunity that America offers. We hope that the ideals of liberty, peace, and tolerance shall remain in our minds to guide us in the momentous decisions and responsibilities which will be ours in the future.

You will note that our theme is illustrated throughout this edition by various quotations gleaned from government documents and works of such great American writers and thinkers as Franklin, Jefferson, and Thoreau. These quotations remind us that to be an American gives us privileges but demands of us certain basic responsibilities as well.

In addition, of course, to the serious purpose just indicated, we want our book to present a clear and accurate picture of Fairhaven High School — its daily academic life and activities.

If we have succeeded in these two purposes, we shall feel that our yearbook has been a worthwhile project.

Preface

When we think of the history of our class,
We realize how fast the time has sped.
Though day by day they did not seem to pass,
Four pleasant years of high school life have fled.
We've had some good, bad, and indifferent days,
Received honors and aftersessions too.
Though some classmates have left to go their ways,
We've found good friends in others that are new.
Soon we'll part and our chosen paths diverge,
And many roads of Life shall travel on,
But 'tween these pages many memories merge
Of classmates and good times forever gone.
Thus will this yearbook hold, though time may pass,
The thoughts of our great '57 class.

OFFICE OF THE PRINCIPAL

To the Class of 1957:

Your yearbook has a patriotic theme. That is good. Ever since you entered the first grade, your teachers have tried to help you appreciate what America means.

The motto of our school is "The noblest motive is the public good." The meaning of these simple words is clear. To put them into practice calls for the kind of dedication that makes patriots.

The history of America is full of people whom we regard as patriots. The thing that made them patriots was that they chose to serve their country when they might have served themselves.

Patriotic service is often costly.

Speaking for one group, Thomas Jefferson said they pledged to each other their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor.

Honor means principles so important that conduct contrary to these standards is unthinkable.

Fortunes. Jefferson meant that even if it cost them all they possessed, they would be loyal to the cause for which they were striving.

Lives. Many families know what it means to have one of their own give his young life to help preserve the American ideal of freedom and fair play.

I hope you will not be called upon to die for your country, but I expect you to be willing to live for it.

My best wishes go with you as you leave our school to continue to face the great challenge of trying to be worthy of our American heritage.

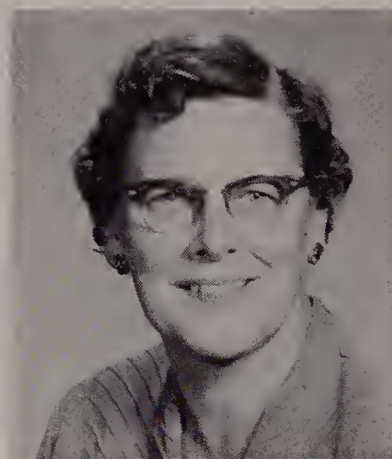

Sincerely,

CHESTER M. DOWNING,

JUNIOR JOTTINGS

We, the class of '58,
Thank the Seniors, who are great,
For the space to write this page,
Although it proves we're not too sage.

You all know your history,
But to us it's a mystery.
Nor can we write good poetry;
Here's proof: this line won't rhyme.

When Columbus sailed the ocean blue,
He found Chief Hopalong Lanoue,
Who, with sidekick, Heap Big Jerry,
Led his team to victorerry.

Pocahontas saved the day,
(And John Smith's neck, I've heard them say,)
But saving his hot rod is now the aim
Of our John Howcroft of highway fame.

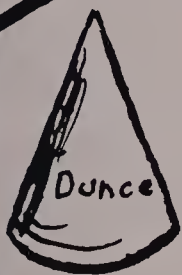

When Miles Standish was too shy,
And thought of blushing he would die,
He'd send John Alden, who was, 'twould seem,
The ancestor of Alden, Jean.

First U. S. President was George,
(But it wasn't Correa at Valley Forge!)
Then came Madison and his wife Dolly,
Our first lady is Rosemary "Collie".

Modern history is now being made,
The memories of which will never fade.
Here at last, much is revealed,
Most of which were better concealed.

Of several scientists we can boast,
And of musicians there's a host,
But it's in sports we're really best;
'58 leads all the rest.

P. Goulet's a star on the football team,
This boy is really "on the beam!"
And whence, thinkest thou, comest these roars?
From the illustrious Pep Squad, cheering his scores!

Our gal, Sheila Cousy, is girls' basketball's threat.
She'll score double figures, you can safely bet.
Guarding the line is Evelyn Martin,
She's indomitable as a Greek Spartan.

We name Sue Pierce our class belle,
She always has news and gossip to tell.
But the authorities like to furtell,
The new class Romeo to be Bill Purtell.

Susan Dodge, with labors painstaking,
Endeavors to excel in the art of dressmaking.
Still she'll never be another Betsy Ross,
Even though she's in our grand Junior Closs.

The Sunflower of our class is pert Sis Jenney.
Her smile is as sparkling as a shiny new penny.
And Barb Besse too, has a nature as good
And simply loves sailing as a Mariner should.

Who is the girl who sleeps in her locker.
Possible? Yes, when it's tiny Majocka.
There's also a gent who follows this path,
Peter Pelton, of course, who collapses in math.

The Wright brothers won national fame
When they flew the first aeroplane.
But we have very famous lovers,
Known to all as the Titcomb brothers.

Bob Comeau wants passengers in cars
To go along with him on his way to the stars.
But all is lost, for with much leisure
A space ship will pass him, inside, A. Plezia.

Like T. R. who became President,
Our Teddy Govoni is a Rough Riding gent.
His little red Ford to him is dear,
But he leaves all pedestrians quaking with fear.

The he-man of our class, Giles Dunn,
Has the biceps. Oh, muscular one!
And Barry Hagen, notorious skin diver,
In Choristers is a devilish conniver.

Smiling Joan Sylvia is 'most always late.
A time study expert is her probable fate.
And Sue Rychlinski, with that guilty blush,
Always seems to be in a rush.

Minus Fred Spicer and his "real cool" drums,
Miss Hastings, for ulcers, could take fewer Tums.
And though D. Cooper is no Jack Benny,
Her music is soothing and sweet to many?

Andy Martin's ambitions are few;
He enjoys life to the fullest; don't you?
It seems to us that H. Steve Browne
Deserves the title, "Our Class Clowne."

When the Pilgrims landed, things weren't so dandy,
But everything's fine with the optimist, Sandy.
Rosie Murphy is always full of fun;
With a twinkle in her eyes, she's as bright as the sun.

We need Ellen Einstein, the mathematician,
To tally up Barry, the scoring magician.
From the cheerleading squad we almost played hooky,
Until it was joined by pert-looking Snookie.

The pride of the Business Course, Aline Martel,
Has excellent marks and good looks as well.
But there never was one with more homework woes,
Than our comedian, Miss Jacqueline Rose.

J. Vohnoutka, C. Olivera, and L. Wenzel, we figger,
Have the longest pony tails with the exception of Trigger.
And Bob Botelho, if his hair gets much thinner,
Can make tidy sums imitating Yul Brynner.

Since Washington's time, the Inaugural Ball
Has proved a good time for one and all.
But with our Junior Prom it can't compare;
Our king and queen were the handsomest pair.

No Longfellows or Poes are we,
(As by this poem, you can see,)
But we've enjoyed it, haven't you?
And here the Junior Page is through.

Class History

Just as our great nation was once young, inexperienced, and beginning its evolution to greatness, so, too, the class of 1957 entered the Freshman year in 1953 with little experience and knowledge of what the future had in store.

Our stalwart class embarked on its Freshman year with Ida Mello as captain; Judy Robinson, 1st mate; Christine Brodeur, Yeoman, and Gladys Davidsen, Purser. Mr. Bradford Pierce was our unerring pilot. Upon landing at Plymouth Rock, we held a celebration known as the "Bunny Hop" with our sister ship the "Sophomores". To raise money for this event and similar ones in the future, we sold pencils to fellow pilgrims and all friendly Indians. Judy Robinson's cheering, kindling the spirits of pilgrims and Indians alike, won her a place on the cheering squad.

During the next year, life was not so quiet, as we waged a determined war against our books and studies. Judy Robinson was our able general, with Ida Mello as second in command, and Jack Alden, Quartermaster, Christine Brodeur, ordinance officer, and Mrs. Margaret Howland, Drill sergeant, completing the vanguard. This year also our ranks were supplemented by a noble regiment from Mattapoisett. To raise money for supplies, we sold greeting cards, and presented the Freshman-Sophomore Dance. Ida Mello was chosen by government officials to help cheer on our more athletic forces. At the end of the year, we ended the war, having conquered our Sophomore schoolwork.

In our Junior year, we concentrated on opening up and pushing back the frontiers of knowledge. The leaders of our hardy group were Ida Mello, Dennis Duval, Gladys Davidsen, and Judie Hirschmann, with Mr. Earl J. Dias as scout.

In our travels through the wilderness, we came across a beautiful snowy glade, which we used as the setting of our "Winter Wonderland". In this celebration we were joined by our fellow frontiersmen of the Senior class. Needing supplies, we bartered with the Indians, exchanging greeting cards for much-needed wampum. During one stop on our journey, some of our members were inducted into the National Honor Society with impressive ceremonials. As we progressed, Joyce Belleveau was added to the cheering squad to sustain and encourage the spirits of those who lagged behind.

Some of our hardier homesteaders were dispatched as explorers to insure friendly relations with other pioneers. Judy Robinson was sent on the farthest journey; to Switzerland, as a Foreign Exchange Student. Our talented Judy Knox was sent to the National Orchestra to charm the natives there with her beautiful music. Corinne McMenamy and Thomas Barron were sent to Girls' and Boys' State respectively to encourage peace and promote the general welfare.

Near the end of our journey, we held two celebrations, Junior Day and the Junior Prom. At the latter, in a setting of moonlight and roses, Judy Robinson was crowned our pioneer Queen. Our passage completed, we hardy pioneers faced the final, unvanquished frontier stretching beyond the horizon.

The advent of our senior year found our class in a frolicsome and light hearted mood, somewhat resembling that of the roaring '20's. Dennis Duval, Judy Robinson, Gladys Davidsen, and Susan Silveira set the pace as our jovial leaders, and Mrs. Cromie became our class advisor. Feeling the urge to dabble in the arts, an illustrious and talented troupe of Thespians began rehearsals with fervor on "The Girl in the Rain", our Senior class play. This year Kenneth Iida of Japan joined us as our Foreign Exchange Student.

Some of our Seniors have won special recognition for various deeds; Lorraine Landry received an award as Fairhaven High School winner of the Betty Crocker Homemaking Contest, Roberta Flack won the area "Voice of Democracy" contest, Ida Mello was chosen as the D. A. R. representative of our class, and on Student Government Day, Dennis Duval sat in the Boston capitol as Secretary of State. Four seniors were inducted into the Honor Society in its annual initiation. At the Senior Prom on June 7th, the Senior "Bunny huggers" and "Charlestoners" may be seen celebrating the coming graduation. Thus approaches the end of our high school days.

Class Will

We, the graduates of Fairhaven High School, in order to be remembered as a generous class, to promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of scholarship to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this will of the class of "57".

1. Judie Hirschmann leaves her lists of people who owe money to anyone who wants them.

2. To next year's HUTTLESTONIAN Staff, Pammie MacGowan leaves her ink eraser, if there is anything left.

3. Judy Knox leaves a manual, "How to Tune a Cello", to Susan Pierce.

4. Choristers leave the lost chord, which they have found on various occasions, to Mrs. Johnson.

5. Gladys Davidsen and Susan Silveira leave Florida to any cold Junior girl.

6. To Steve Browne, Dick Tirrell bequeaths his wig for use as a disguise during his various escapades.

7. Diana Laycock leaves her headaches and bruises to next year's editor-in-chief so that she need not collect her own.

8. Sylvia Aanensen and John Alden leave their flaming red hair to anyone who wishes to start a fire.

9. For transportation to future basketball games, Lillian Castelejo leaves her truck to Jackie Rose.

10. Jo-Ann Davis leaves her voluminous books on modeling to Lynn Cadieux.

11. Kenneth Iida bequeaths his rocket to next year's foreign student in the event he becomes homesick.

12. Alan Fales leaves his naps to Harvey Marshall.

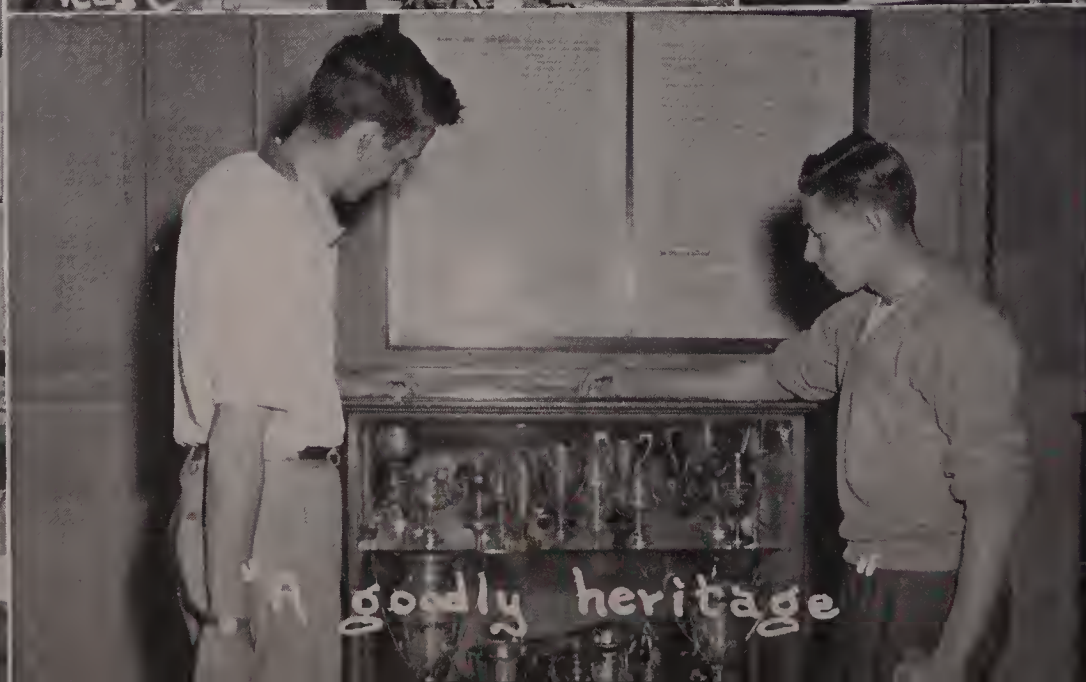

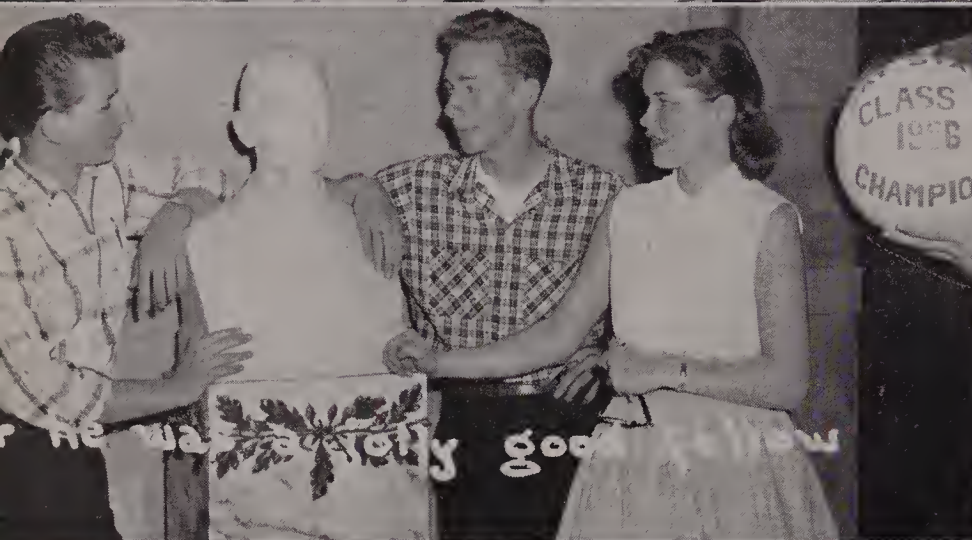

13. Leo Forand leaves his motor scooter to Fred Spicer.

14. To any Junior who may wish to wallpaper his room, James Haskell leaves his collection of aftersession slips.

15. Gay Lorraine leaves her energetic Ford, "Leaping Leona" to her motley crew of band members.

16. Anne Marsden leaves her tan to any Junior paleface.
17. Ida Mello leaves her hip-hips to Snooky Downing.
18. Marie Rose leaves her baton to Irene Silvia.
19. To Linda Long, we leave one of Norma Costa's two hope chests.
20. To Mrs. Noyer, Sheila DeWolfe willingly bequeaths a collection of broken office practice machines.
21. To Mrs. Dobson, the Senior Class of "57" leaves a truckload of dark bread so that she need not combine white and dark bread in the sandwiches.
22. Thomas Barron leaves his alarm clock to Mr. Wood so it will not be necessary to kick future physicists.
23. Gladys Teixeira leaves on a journey to "Matrimony".
24. In the near future, so as not to disturb the industrious Honor Society students, we solemnly bequeath a rubbish barrel silencer to the janitors.
25. John Radcliffe leaves his famed basketball trunks to Barry Behn, for next year's season.

Thus, on this 28th day of January, in the year of Our Lord 1957, we the noblest class yet to graduate, do declare this last will and testament, and hereby appoint Mrs. Noyer executor. We come to the end of the academic trail and, as we hear the fifes and drums of the Spirit of '76 in the distance, we heed the call to higher aims.

Junior Prom

"Moonlight and Roses", our Junior Prom, was held on Friday evening, May 4, 1956 in the Larch Avenue Auditorium. Music for that festive occasion was provided by Louis Queen's Orchestra.

The theme of the prom was carried out in the unusual decorations which consisted of splendid trellises adorned with dainty roses of several colors. On stage, a realistic moonlight scene greeted our admiring eyes. Nearly one hundred couples were estimated to have been present on that glamorous evening.

During the intermission, delicious punch and cookies were served as refreshments. Directly afterward, following the Grand March, Judith Robinson was crowned queen by Glenna Dobson, former queen. Judy reigned, stunning in a delicate, blue pastel gown, throughout the evening. Her chief attendant was Ida Mello, while her court consisted of Audrey Czaya, Gladys Davidsen, and Susan Silveira.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Flavel M. Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. Chester M. Downing, Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Wood, Mrs. William D. Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Dias. Mrs. Margaret Howland, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Smith, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Baker.

Those on the committee in charge of the event were Christine Brodeur, Gladys Davidsen, Dennis Duval, Judith Hirschmann, Diana Laycock, Ida Mello, Leslie Mikalson, Nancy Page, Lawrence Peck, Judith Robinson, Barbara Smythe, Gladys Teixeira, and Richard West. Many thanks are due the committee which helped to make the prom such a tremendous success.

Junior Day

A shower of roses seemed to descend on Fairhaven High School at the annual Junior Day festivities on June 8, 1956. As befitted the month and the occasion, the flowers were purchased with funds from the class treasury so that each Junior, as well as faculty and maintenance staff members, could wear a rose in observance of the happy day.

At the festive morning assembly, our class marched in, and, hearts glowing with pride and achievement, assumed the seats of the lordly Seniors. The Class of 1956 then entered, attired in caps and gowns to indicate their status of graduates-to-be about to advance to a larger world of endeavor, and, as befitted their rank, took their seats upon the stage. A stirring rendition of Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" by Nathan Heuberger, president of the graduating class, lent solemnity and appropriate patriotism to the exercises which also featured the traditional Presentation of the Mantle by Mr. Heuberger to Ida Mello, president of the Junior Class.

Sam came running breathlessly up to Joe.

"Hey, Joe! I was cleanin' the winders on the Nort' side when I happens to look trough one of 'em an' ya know what?"

"No, what."

"Some girl was shootin' her boy-friend, Ya-a-a. First they argued. Then some odder girl come in an firs' thing ya know da guy's stretched out on da floor, I seen it!"

"Lemme look. Gimme da ladder. Na-a-a, there ain't no one dead. Some guy dey call Bill is carrying some girl around and everyone else is running 'round to beat the cars. Woo-ops. He just dropped 'er, an he's giggling like crazy — now everyone else is laughin' and some old guy is in there passin' up and down and tearing out his hair."

"Gee, Dat's bad!"

"De old guy just gave some directions to some Susan and she's rollin' the carpet sweeper over the bare floor and yellin' somethin' about a bird in a cage. You sure dis ain't da crazy house?"

"Spose t'be a high school!"

"Well, I dunno, I --- Hey, dis Bill character is shakin' the life outa some blonde an' a guy named Carl jus' come in, said 'Lord' an' stood dere wid his mouth open. Didn't even try to help 'er. Some nerve, huh?"

"Ya. Hey, how can ya hear what de're sayin'?"

“Da winder’s open at da bottom, dope” — “Dat Bill character’s hug-gin’ an old lady, now, wid blonde hair. Chee, never heard a’ blonde old ladies before. Besides, what kinda name is Janice for an old lady? Anyway, she’s lookin’ like she just had some castor oil. Guess she don’t like him too much!”

“Now de’re all laughin’ again. The old guy seems to be de only sane one aroun’ here and now I ain’t so sure about him, the way he’s tearing around here. Boy, is he mad! — Say, I tol’ ya they was nuts! A doctor just come on an s’takin’ da pulse of some girl named Barbara. What a crazy guy! Here da guy is alone wi’d a good-looking girl and what does he do? He takes her pulse! Dey know dis doctor pretty well, I guess. Dey call ’im Larry.”

“Say, lemme see - - - - - ”

“Holy cow, I see what ya mean! This J-Ann dame just took out a gat and is goin’ to let some guy in a monkey-suit have it right between the eyes! Now the old guy is yellin’ “Francis, look frightened” de odder girl, Barbara, came runnin’ in an is just standin’ there, and some Vivian is runnin’ around in a trench coat holding a pad a’ paper. De’re crazy,
I tell ya. Let’s get da cops.”

Just then an elderly gentleman came out of the building.

“See here. What were you people doing?”

“Well, we was washing the winder’s and we sees someone get shot and now we’re goin’ to — — ” “Hold on a minute. They’re only rehearsing for the high school Senior play!”

What? Senior Play! Oh, den dat explains everythin’!”

And they walked off mumbling to themselves.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

Honor Society

Membership in the National Honor Society, which stresses the four ideals of Scholarship, Service, Character, and Leadership, is a goal which all students strive to attain.

In January of each year, juniors and seniors who have adhered to these four ideals are initiated into the Fairhaven High School Honor Society, Chapter 573, in an impressive ceremony.

Forming a shield, the candidates hold lighted torches symbolizing the Spirit of Truth as they take the vows of the organization.

This year the officers: President, Ida Mello; Vice-President, Anne Marsden; Secretary, Diana Laycock, and Treasurer, Betty Monteiro. Present members are: Ferne Cathcart, Dennis Duval, Charles Foley, Sandra Henshaw, Judith Hirschmann, Judith Knox, Susan Pepin, Susan Silveira, Barbara Souza, and Gladys Teixeira, and the following who were initiated in January: Barry Behn, Joan Berube, Barbara Besse, Stevens Browne, Judith Callahan, Ruth Downing, Dana Greenfield, Mary Lou Goulart, Marilyn Lopes, Ellen Mahoney, Aline Martel, Rosemary Murphy, Lynne Oliveira, Judy Vohnoutka, Thomas Barron, Carol Kent, Gay Lorraine, Patricia Ornellas, and Nancy Page. New officers of the Society will be chosen in June.

Key Club

First row: — B. Megathlin, B. Ross, F. Perry, P. Goulart.

Second row: — C. Maxfield, W. Robinson, W. Smith, S. Browne, P. Mendell, B. Behn, L. Peck, P. McCarthy, K. Kuechler, W. Titcomb, G. Correa.

Third row: — R. Morrill, D. Harrison, D. Knox, G. Dunn, T. Furhovden, L. Mikalson, J. Razon, G. Maxfield, B. Hagen.

The Fairhaven High School Key Club, a member of Key Club International, boasts its largest membership in history this year. The club has grown since 1948 to its present membership of 25 energetic and hard working boys.

Under the direction of club president Peter Mendell and the advice of our faculty advisor, Mr. Downing, we have again completed our program for school and community. The club has obtained speakers for assemblies, served as ushers at parent-teachers night, given a hundred dollar scholarship, and donated numerous small sums of money to worthy organizations. A new project is the annual awarding of sportsmanship trophies in each of the five major sports.

Fairhaven has been well represented at Key Club Conventions. A large delegation attended the New England District Convention, and two members were sent to Dallas, Texas where the International Convention was held.

Other officers this year were Barry Behn, vice president; William Smith, corresponding secretary; Lawrence Peck, recording secretary; and Stevens Browne, treasurer.

This year the Student Council, under the leadership of Dennis Duval, president; Barbara Souza, vice-president; and Ida Mello, secretary-treasurer, has striven to attain several goals. Foremost of these purposes has been constant effort to make Fairhaven High School a place in which student leadership, with continuous faculty advice, can work constructively for the welfare of the school.

With the help of its advisor, Mrs. William D. Bruce, the group also sold book covers and sponsored a tea for the Foreign Exchange students. Conventions held in Norton and Dartmouth were attended by representatives of the Council.

In summary, the purpose of the Council, as stated in its constitution, is “to assist in the management of Fairhaven High School, . . . to foster good school spirit, . . . and to encourage the spirit of democracy in the student body.”

Fourth row: — F. Majocka, A. Rex, S. Whitaker, S. Silveira, P. Pelton, D. Johnson, M. Richmond, D. Johnson, R. Murphy, R. Monteiro, P. Moniz, J. Majocka, R. Ryle, S. Hatel, S. Wilcox.

Fifth row: — P. Copeland, E. Megathlin, J. Haaland, A. Plezia, A. Medeiros, C. Foley, F. Spicer, P. Alves, V. White, K. Langlois, M. Jorgensen, W. Coyne.

Last row: — A. Skeie, B. Megathlin, C. Chase.

The Fairhaven High School Band, under the proficient supervision of Miss Elizabeth I. Hastings and Mr. Alipio Bartholo, can, again, proclaim a successful year. This is repeatedly illustrated in the commendable routines displayed by the 77 piece marching band at football games, and at the Southeastern Massachusetts Music Festival.

Besides the South Eastern Massachusetts Music Festival, the annually successful Pops Concert is an outstanding event for the 58 enterprising musicians of concert band.

Tag Day terminated in the record-breaking collection of $787.00, to be added to the instrument fund. This year the band has a new bass clarinet.

Among the vast series of projects, planned by the band, along with the assistance of parents, will be a gigantic paper drive. These undertakings will help establish a travel fund for an exchange program.

Orchestra

First row: — L. Browning, A. Grace, M. Whitman, F. Majocka, P. Wrightington, S. Burgess, B. Padelford, V. White, R. Murphy, S. Tunstall, D. Cooper, J. Alden, J. Knox, S. Pierce, C. Brodeur.

Second row: — J. Langlois, N. Bettencourt, S. Amaral, J. Stonehill, D. Foley, J. Morrill, C. Wyzga, J. West, L. Richards, B. Heuberger, B. Govoni, M. Gardner, J. Hiller, C. Ventura, S. Pelton, R. Flack, J. Sylvia, K. Langlois, E. Radcliffe.

Third row: — M. Gardner, C. Bungert, E. Coyne, S. Silveira, E. Monteiro, M. Mello, J. Bresnahan, G. Lorraine, P. Copeland, D. Greenfield, W. Carruth, N. Holmes, M. Richmond, D. Johnson, P. Pelton, A. Hann, E. Mahoney, J. Hirschmann.

Fourth row: — M. Dumas, J. Sullivan, A. Medeiros, C. Foley, F. Mello, R. Santos, D. Burrows, S. Drew, B. Megathlin, T. Renahan, J. Haaland, E. Megathlin, P. Copeland, F. Spicer, P. Alves, A. Plezia.

This year, as every year, the orchestra works hard for the many events in which it participates. Various assemblies, the Southeastern Massachusetts Music Convention, the Senior Play, May Festival, and, of course, graduation are the most important events.

The whole group is composed of music-loving young people, all working under the capable leadership of Miss Elizabeth I. Hastings, to better themselves and their school through music.

This year, some of our most outstanding players made up part of the Bristol County High School Orchestra and as usual, Fairhaven is well represented in the Massachusetts All-State Orchestra.

The Fairhaven High School Orchestra will always, as in the past, be a popular, worthwhile group.

Football

 Second row, left to right: — Coach Entin, R. LeBeau, R. Holt, O. Blanchette, G. Correa, G. Bergeron, A. Martin, J. Cabral, C. Tripp, F. Harris.

The 1956 football season was the most triumphant in many years for the Blue of F.H.S. The team sparked by Seniors; Danny Santos, Ed Monteiro, John Arruda, Abby Teixeira, co-captains Louie Jenney and Pete Mendell gave many thrills throughout the season to the spirited fans who turned out to cheer the boys. The team had a 6-2 won-lost record and rolled up a total of 117 points for a 14.5 game average.

The defense also deserves much credit for its great playing during the season. They allowed the opposition only 38 points for an impressive average of 4.75 a game and shut out Dartmouth, Voke, New Bedford and Coyle.

In the traditional big game with New Bedford, the team racked up the biggest margin ever achieved against the boys in red in the many years of this great high school football classic.

Congratulations to the entire team for the fine season they had. Good luck next year.

Basketball

This year has truly been most successful for F. H. S. both in football and basketball. In regular season play, the basketball team, behind the incomparable coaching of Mel Entin, won 12 games while losing only 2, a won-lost percentage of .857. The team averaged 67.7 points per game and the defense held the opposition to only 42.9 points per game.

At the Tech Tourney Eliminations our boys lost a very close contest to St. Mary's of Brookline. Trailing by fourteen markers at the opening of period four, the team put on an amazing rally, but time ran out with the score 54-51 in favor of the opposition.

Our team showed their opponents some of the greatest defensive play in this section of the state. Mendell, Teixeira, and Robinson played outstanding defensive ball and with the scoring and rebounding of Behn and Radcliffe, the Entin men presented very formidable opposition to every team on their schedule. Ken Lanoue and Pete Titcomb also contributed with some fine play during the season.

The basketball team has given Fairhaven High much to be proud of in their great play and fine conduct during the year.

Tennis

Left to right: — J. Radcliffe, B. Behn, K. Lanoue, J. Pina, D. Geiger.

Commendation is in order for Mr. Cook and the tennis team of "56" for their sportsmanship in their matches and their enthusiasm despite only one victory and one tie. Particular credit goes to Barry Behn, Kenneth Lanoue, and Antonangelo Pina for their perseverance during the season.

Track

Fairhaven High School's 1956 track athletes and their coach, Don Gavin, deserve commendation for a better than average season. The team managed to win three meets while losing two and also gave a good account of itself in the annual Bristol County Track Meet. Meriting praise for a job well done in this important meet are Manuel Cabral, Pete Mendell, and Louis Jenney, and the excellent relay team comprising Richard Lomba, David Brenneke, Manuel Cabral, and Antonio Santos.

Baseball

Coach Alec Clement and his squad once again came through with a very successful season.

The team won 8 games including victories over Voke and Durfee, while dropping only 3 decisions for a won-lost percentage of .727.

Much of the credit for the success of the team belongs to pitcher Ray Faria, who was chosen Most Valuable Player, and Johnny "Bingo" Correia, who chalked up the highest batting average on the roster. Of course, it takes nine men to make a ball team and every player deserves a well-earned pat on the back.

Best of everything to next year's team, and keep up the good work.

Girls' Softball

Second row, left to right: — E. Anthony, R. Mottas, J. Rose, C. Rego, M. Mello, S. Correa, S. Tunstall.

Our softball team distinguished itself last season. Although its schedule was not a full one, the girls played two games and were victorious in both.

Among the outstanding players were Nancy Page, Pat Pimental, Mary Lou Barcellos, Mimi Mello, and Pat Richards. The team was ably coached by Miss Anne Hayes.

Good luck to the '57 softball team, and let's hope the schedule will be of greater length in order that the team may show its athletic ability.

Susan Silveira '57

Girls' Basketball

 Standing, left to right: — J. Alden, G. Foster, D. Holden, B. Jensen, B. Besse, A. Norlander, J. Luiz, E. Taylor.

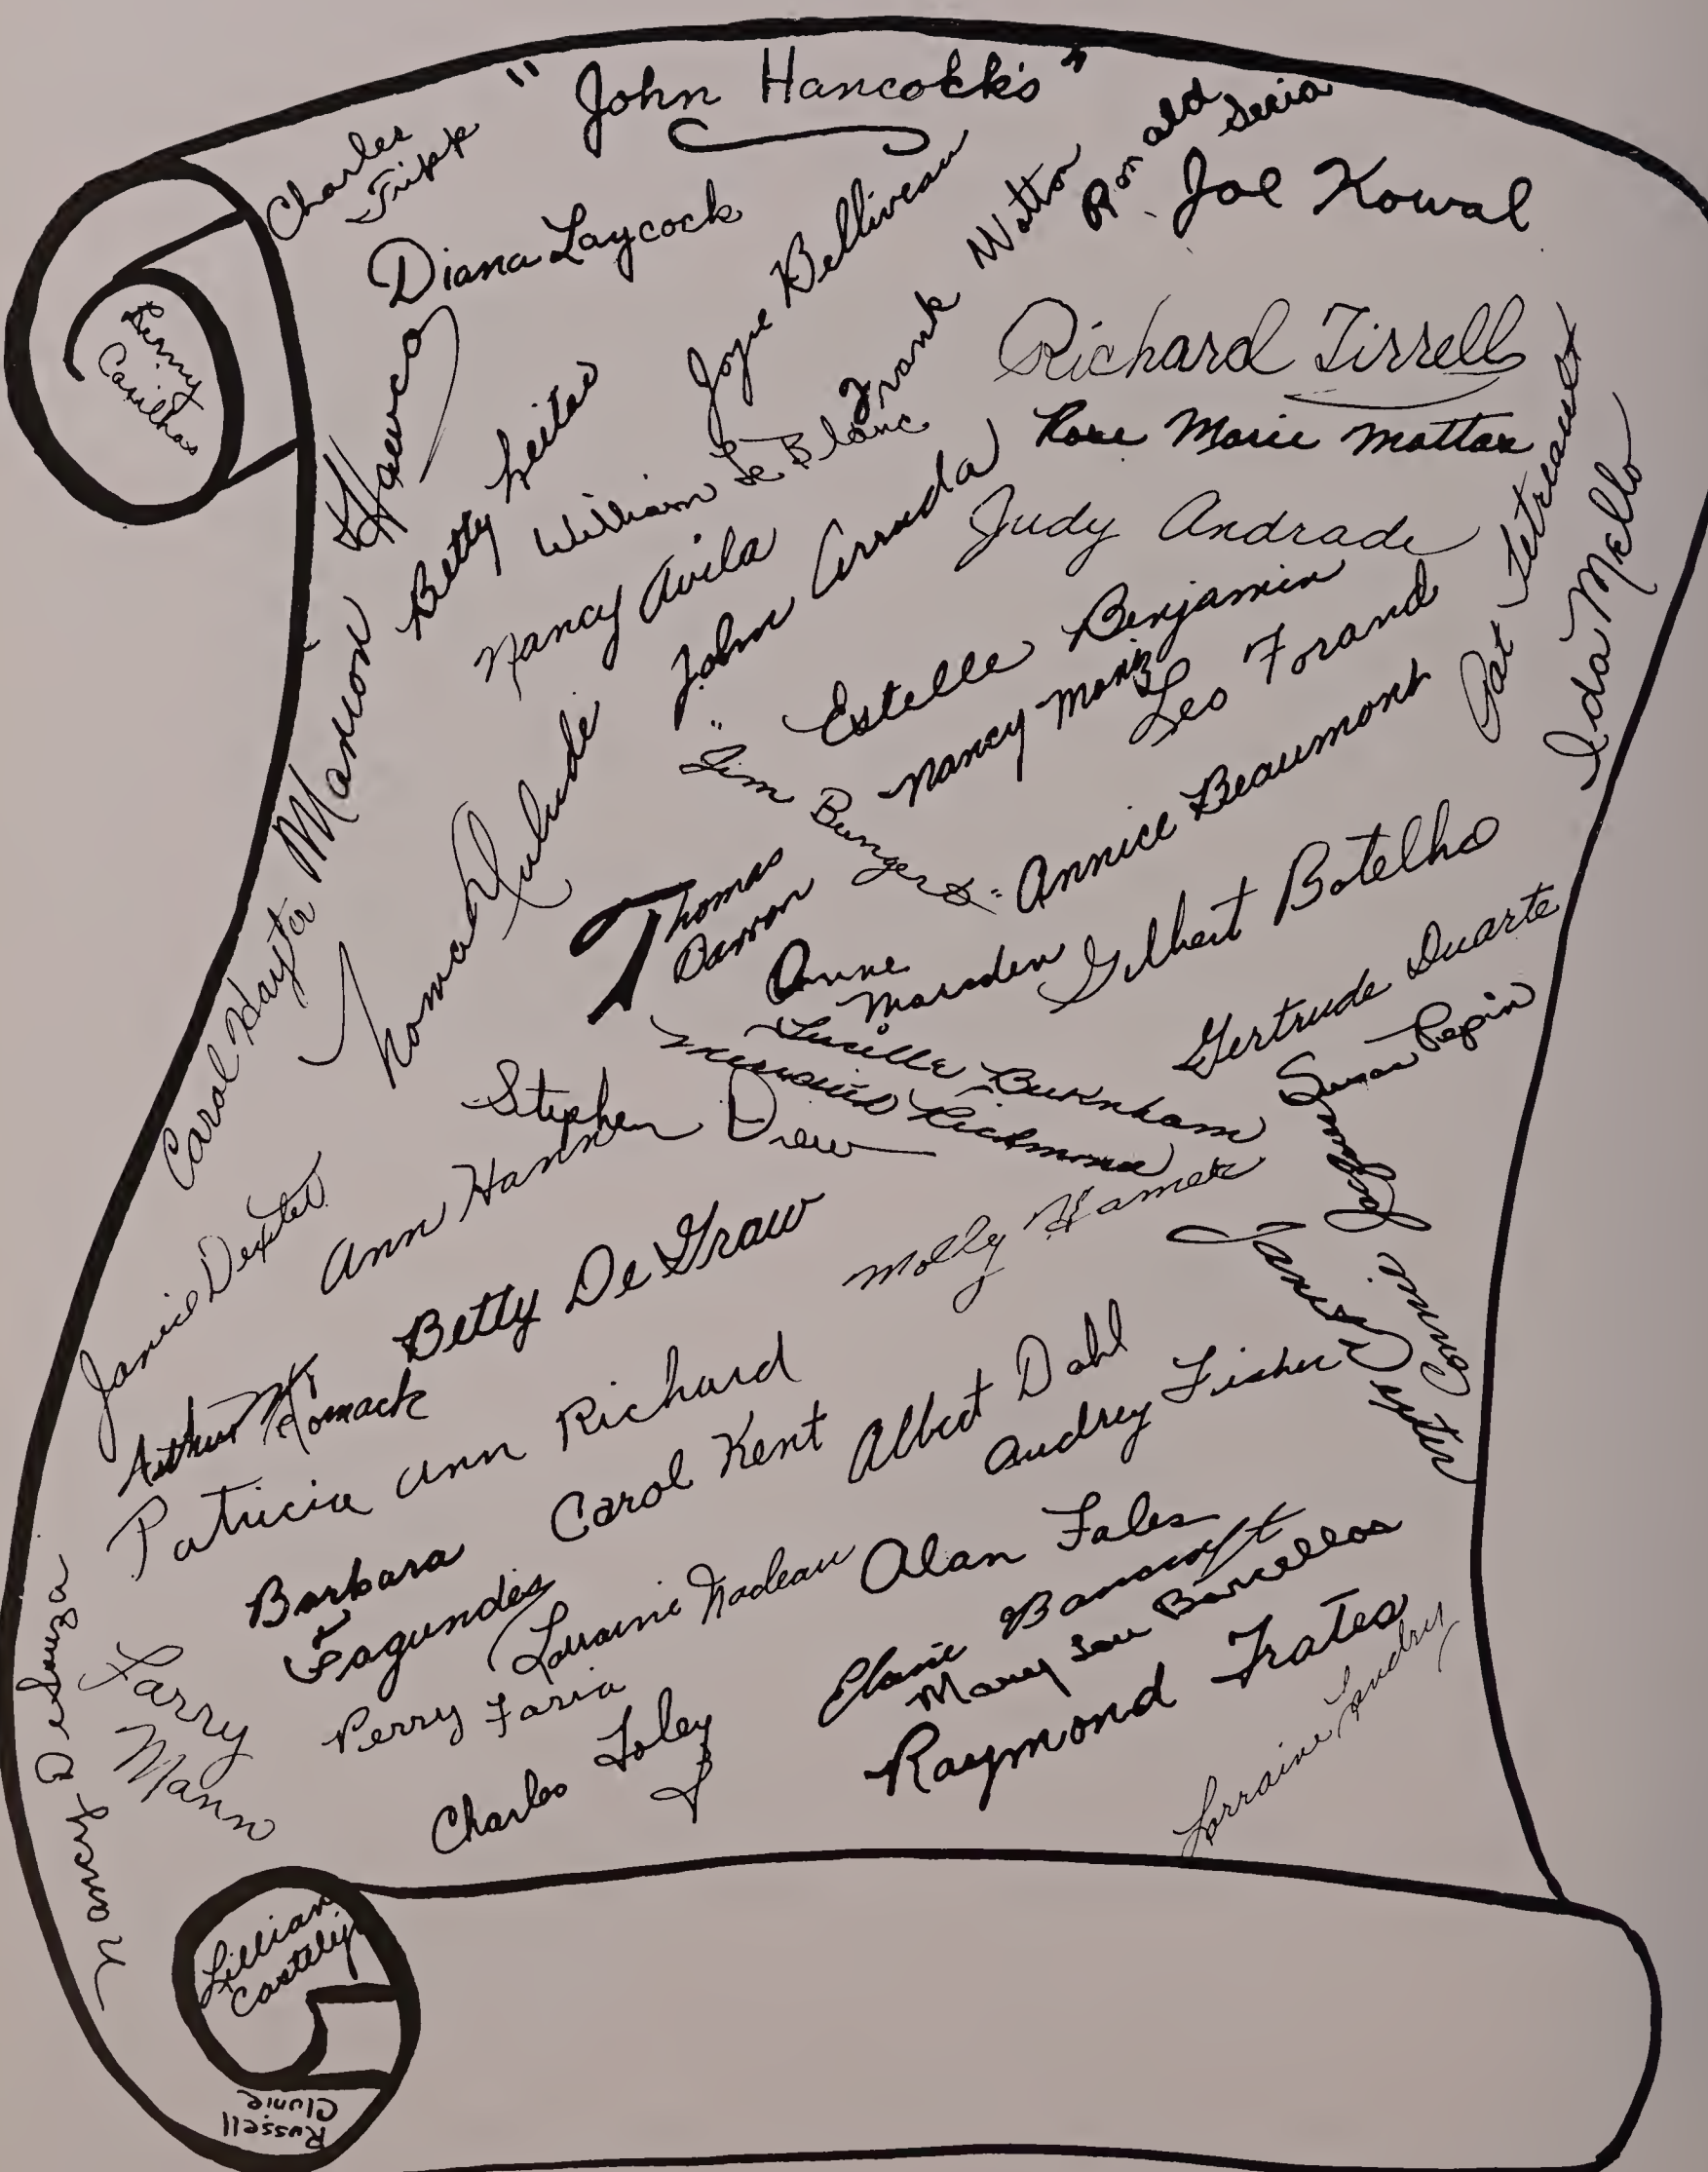

The Fairhaven's girl's basketball team enjoyed a good season in 1956-57, with an excellent record. Managing to win five of its eight games, the team played with skill, spirit, and determination. Diligent practice and high enthusiasm enabled the group to finish in third place in the Girl's Narragansett League.

Among the Senior standouts were Gladys Davidsen, Pat Pimental, Pat Richard, Betty Monteiro, Molly Hamer, Audrey Czaya, and Nancy Page. The team was coached efficiently by Miss Anne Hayes.
